How wildlife lovers can bag a luxury African safari for 60% less than a night at a UK zoo

Wildlife lovers can enjoy a genuine African safari for less than the cost of a weekend at a UK zoo.

The offer from acclaimed luxury travel provider, Destination2, comes as Chester Zoo unveiled a new Giraffe Safari 'experience'.

It will set couples back over £1,300 for a single night this August.

Meanwhile, adventure-seekers can experience the full majesty of the African savannah for just £261 per night - saving over 60%.

Nestled on the Sabie River in the Greater Kruger Conservancy, Kruger Gate Hotel offers a luxury safari escape where guests can spot South Africa's iconic Big Five - lions, leopards, elephants, rhinos and buffalos in their natural habitat.

Enjoy thrilling game drives, relax by the infinity pool, or sip cocktails on the game-viewing deck.

Indulge in a plush spa, stay active in the fitness centre and savour exquisite local and international cuisine at top-class restaurants. Whether in a stylish room, suite, or private chalet, guests can immerse themselves in nature while experiencing five-star luxury.

Destination2 offers a seven-night stay from the 27th of June from £1,829pp including return flights and bed & breakfast.

Two more South Africa safari offers from Destination2

Kruger Wildlife Safari, Johannesburg Round Trip from £819pp

Embark on a thrilling 3-night safari in South Africa's Kruger National Park, home to the iconic Big Five. Experience guided bush walks, offering close encounters with incredible wildlife and unwind in the evenings with traditional South African dinners around a campfire for a truly immersive experience.

The adventure also includes a scenic drive along the Panorama Route, where you'll take in breathtaking viewpoints like God's Window, the Three Rondavels and Blyde River
